EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

1. An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Herbert Larson on September 7, 2006.

The application has been amended as follows:

In Claim 8:

In line 3: "a sterile container attached" should read as –a sterile container adapted to be attached—

In lines 3 and 11: "uro genital" should read as –uro-genital—

In Claim 13, line 3:

"uro genital" should read as –uro-genital—

In the Abstract, line 7:

"said delaying mechanism" should read as –the delaying mechanism—

2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: After reviewing the amendment filed on December 23, 2005, the claims were found to be allowable since no prior art could be found teaching or suggesting a disposable device for collecting an uncontaminated urine sample comprising: an inlet to the container that is initially closed by a delaying mechanism, the delaying mechanism automatically opening within a predetermined amount of time after the inlet is reached by urine and thereby preventing a first portion of urine from reaching the container, and the first portion of urine is absorbed by an absorbent material placed around the urine path from the uro-genital part to the inlet, as claimed in Claim 8.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Conclusion

3. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The cited prior art discloses means for obtaining urine samples from children but fail to disclose the above allowable subject matter.
